Some firms not inspected

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Some businessmen in Granite City are renting potential firetraps for their businesses because they are either unaware of, or are ignoring, a city-known city ordinance requiring an inspection before opening a new business, a Press-Record study showed.

While businesses which need a city business license to operate are routinely inspected before that license is issued, many are unaware that businesses not needing business licenses also, by city ordinance must be inspected.

That ordinance, however, is not well known and there is very little enforcement, unless a problem concerning the conditions of a building about to house a new business is brought to the attention of city officials.

Persons opening businesses are required to obtain a slip of paper from the city clerk's office in city hall. The slip of paper has no official name and city officials do not know what to call it.

"It is just a slip of paper that tells us the premises has been inspected," City Clerk Robert W. Stevens told the Press-Record, explaining prospective businessmen are expected to take the papers to the building inspection department at 2301 Adams St., and have them signed by the city inspector and building inspector after their businesses are inspected.

Although the inspection is required by ordinance, city officials admit that when no business license is involved, the inspection requirement is being treated more on a volunteer basis than as a law. The business could be open as long as one year before undergoing a new fire inspection.

One businessman, whose business was destroyed by fire last week, alleged a faulty furnace and a great deal of trash in a building he rented. He said he was unaware of the requirement for an inspection. There was a fire inspection last year of part of the building, but trash had since been moved into another portion.

He said he studied several buildings to house his business before determining the one he selected was the safest available.

"You would not believe the condition of some of these buildings I looked at. It is almost impossible for a small businessman to find a decent building at a reasonable price in Granite City. Many of them are firetraps," he alleged.

He noted all of the shopping center stores are in good condition, but said the rents do not lend themselves to small businesses.

Building Inspector Anthony Rusick said there is no way the city can inspect all of the commercial buildings offered for rent without adding about five more inspectors to his staff.

"I check out every complaint I get, but I am a one-man department and that is all I can do," he said. "I call on the owner and tell him he is renting a building which has deficiencies, I check it and then require the landlord to repair the deficiencies," Rusick said.

"I enforce good government. We all do. There is no negligence in this city. If I am negligent, I will not have a job. Every alderman would call me to task before the City Council," Rusick added.

He said a realistic approach has to be adopted to keep businesses open in the city, stating, "I could spend my day just going around and shutting down businesses for small deficiencies."

He emphasized, "When I get a complaint, I go check. When someone applies for a business license, I go check. When someone applies for a zoning change, I go check. I am spread pretty thin."

Rusick said there simply is no way to enforce the city ordinance requiring new businesses not requiring a business license or zoning change to be inspected and probably would have a difficult time completing all of the inspections.

Inspections with the present staff if every businessman complied.

Although Rusick has the sole responsibility for inspecting the buildings, he shares duties with the city's health inspectors and with the fire department inspectors.

Ernest Eli, city inspector, agreed that the inspection requirement for new businesses not needing business licenses is not being enforced, "simply because we do not know of many of the new businesses about to open."

"I received a call this morning of a business selling clothing about to open on State Street. I have already been there, but the building was locked. I will go back again until I find someone and I will see the building is inspected before it opens," Eli said.

"You never know what you are going to find. There may be rats, stored trash, faulty wiring, or anything."

"If a businessman needs business licenses for all businesses, that is the only way to assure that a building is clean, free of rats and health hazards and is safe before a business opens."

"With a business license, you can tell them what they have to do to the building and you simply do not issue them a license until you are satisfied everything has been done right," Eli said.

He added he is proud of his staff and feels confident they are doing a good job inspecting premises before issuing business licenses.

Both Rusick and Eli said they also are proud of the inspection department's work on remodeling projects. "We have a new restaurant opening soon in the former Franklin Union Furniture building at 19th Street and Delmar Avenue and the new owners are working well with us to see that restaurant is clean and safe," Rusick said.

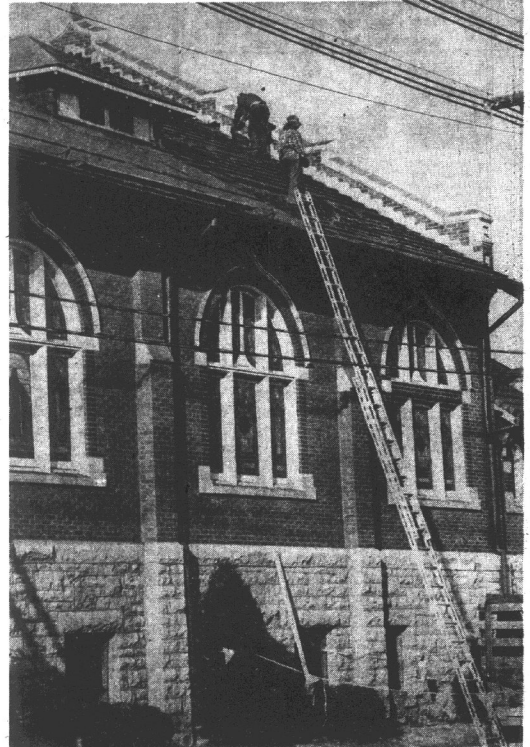

"We have, required extra exits from the upper levels and they have put them in. We said we felt one floor needed more support and they are putting extra supports in there."

"We are confident when that restaurant opens, you can have large crowds, banquets and even dancing on the upper levels and the floor will not cave in or the crowd will not be trapped by fire," Rusick explained.

Rusick said the city has a good building code which is enforced when a new business requiring a zoning change or business license moves into a building. "When that code is followed, you have a good, safe building when a business opens," he added.

Requiring business licenses for all businesses, or enforcing the present inspection requirement for new businesses, probably would require a larger building inspection staff, but would reduce the number of businesses opening in buildings with faulty wiring, insecure floors, bad

SECOND BEFORE HE SLIPPED. Shortly after this picture was taken Friday, the worker near the top of the ladder slipped but quickly recovered his balance while walking along the roof of the First United Presbyterian Church, 2164 Delmar Ave. The workers were stripping old roofing tile from the roof during an improvement project at the church. The steep incline of the roof made the task a hazardous one. (Press-Record Photo)

Hit-run car kills boy, 3

Richard Donald McCormick, three and a half year old son of Mrs. Sandra McCormick, 2548 E. 26th St., was killed at 7:23 p.m. Friday when an auto struck him as the boy was apparently crossing the street in front of his home.

Police are looking for the hit-and-run motorist, believed to have been driving a white Ford with square taillights. It appeared to be a 1964 through about 1968 model.

Granite City police have questioned a Madison youth on three separate occasions about the incident, but have not filed charges pending further study. The youth has been released.

A witness told authorities the vehicle was eastbound on East 26th street at a high rate of speed. The witness heard the sound of brakes at the intersection, looked down the street, saw the back of the car skid to the right, heard a thump and saw something fly into the air.

The car continued traveling east when the witness went to see what had happened he found the boy near the curb.

The child was dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

He is survived by his mother; a grandmother, Mrs. LeVern Wilkerson of Granite City, and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Goad of Florissant, Mo.

Richard was the nephew of Linda Wilkerson of Granite City, David Goad of Florissant, Edward Donahue of St. Louis and Louis Goad of Ferguson. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

City pondering police insurance

Granite City officials today are seeking offers from insurance firms to provide indemnity insurance for the Police Department, but some feel that such coverage will be difficult or highly expensive to obtain.

Meanwhile, the police department is operating without indemnity insurance of any kind.

City Clerk Robert Stevens has been instructed by the City Council to advertise for bids, although some aldermen said they believe that there is little likelihood of receiving bids unless the city agrees to accept deductibility terms and a much higher premium than it has been paying in the past.

Indemnity insurance protects the city and the police officers against damages caused by the assessed as the outcome of police incidents.

The present situation developed when the American Home Assurance Co., the city's former liability insurance carrier for the police department, notified the city on Oct. 3 that it would no longer handle the policy. The city's contract with American Home expired on that date.

Alderman Ronald Coleman, chairman of the City Council's Finance Committee and a member of the Police Committee, said that he has requested the American Home Assurance Co. to grant the city a 30-day extension of its old contract to give the city time to arrange for new coverage. He admitted that he has little hope that such an extension will be granted.

Coleman said he had talked with several insurance firm representatives about indemnity coverage and said it is probable that the city may have to expand its coverage to other departments to provide more coverage, which would increase the premiums paid, and to accept a deductibility provision.

Alderman Everett Morlen, chairman of the Police Committee, said that he also had discussed new policies with other insurance firms and had

This was the first brick house erected within the limits of Madison County. Jacob Judy, the oldest son of Samuel Judy,

The first settlement on the Six Mile Prairie was made in the year 1801. A family named Wiggins settled here, and with them lived an unmarried man, Patrick Hanberry, a century-old history of Madison County relates.

You may be a poet, but without publication nobody will know it

Attorney General William J. Scott's Consumer Protection Division has obtained a temporary injunction prohibiting an organization known as the Illinois Society of Poets from doing business in Illinois.

The attorney general's complaint was filed in Iroquois County Circuit Court at Watseka, one of the counties where the "Society" advertised its services. The complaint named as defendants a Florida man doing business as The National Society of Published Poets and the Illinois Society of Poets.

The complaint states that the "Illinois Society" does not, in fact, exist.

Sewer money didn't go down drain

Sewer tax money in Brooklyn did not go down the drain, thanks to two Madison youngsters.

Billy Dorris, 11, of 1816 Sixth St., and Kenny Greer, 11, of 1546 Sixth St., found an envelope on the ground near the Madison bank last week.

Looking inside, the boys noticed a $20 bill, other currency and various papers. They took it home to their parents, who turned over the envelope with a $100 in cash and $21 in checks to the Madison Police Department.

Police found the money belonged to the municipality of Brooklyn and had been lost. Each boy was given a $5 reward by Brooklyn officials.

Meet this week on traffic flow

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Granite City's traffic problems in the Nameki Shopping area continued to mount this week as merchant tenants of the Bellemore Village Shopping Center asked the city to "reconsider" a proposal for installation of electric traffic signals at Nameki Road and Jill Avenue.

At the same time the Bellemore merchants, through the Village Shopping Center, Inc., which operates the Bellemore properties, protested the recent City Council action banning left turns into Johnson Road from the north end of the shopping center's parking lot, and said "We are of the opinion that our center is being discriminated against."

As a result, Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward, a member of the City Council's Traffic Committee, tentatively set Tuesday night for a meeting in the City Council Chambers between representatives of the shopping center, City Street Superintendent Lionel Portell, City Engineer Monroe Brewer, the council Traffic Committee and other aldermen who wish to attend.

Decatur told council members last week that such a meeting should afford an opportunity to discuss major traffic problems in the area and consider possible solutions.

George Nemon of the Village Shopping Center, Inc., in a letter sent to Mayor Paul Schulz and members of the council, said that "We are disappointed to read that the proposed stop light at Nameki and Jill will not be installed, as it was our understanding that because of the traffic congestion from the school at that intersection, there would be no doubt that a sign (traffic signals) was necessary, if for no other reason than the safety of the children."

Nemon continued: "We are now experiencing, and have for several years, a decrease in business at Bellemore Village due in part to the problem of egress from the property. We have heard numerous complaints from customers as to their problems of exiting. We feel there must be another solution that would be acceptable to the merchants."

Howlett pledges full funding for schools

Michael J. Howlett, Democratic candidate for governor, on Thursday afternoon committed himself to provide an additional $150 million needed for full funding of the revised school aid formula next year.

"Last week, I announced my plan to avoid increased state taxes," Howlett told the Illinois Association of School Administrators state convention here.

"This plan shows that, with the prudent and experienced management I can provide the state, $48 million new dollars will be available to the state in fiscal 1978.

"I am committed to taking the $150 million for full funding right off the top of the 1978 added revenue.

"With my election, you can be assured that the final phase of full funding of the resource equalizer will be completed in 1978.

"This commitment includes full funding of the changes adopted by the legislature this year - changes designed to help downstate rural school districts that do not have access to the tax rates needed to participate fully in the resource equalizer - other changes designed to help school districts throughout Illinois with declining enrollment.

Howlett said the 12 per cent increase in general state aid would be the largest in three years.

"It is affordable because of the steps I am prepared to take to keep increased state spending this year to $332 million, little more than half the actual increase last year," he said.

"My plan will permit us to finish this fiscal year with a surplus of $46 million. That's an important reversal from last year's $189 million deficit. It will restore the state's fiscal stability and allow us to use our revenue growth in 1978.

Having worked successfully with both parties in the General Assembly for 16 years, Howlett expressed confidence he could lead the next assembly to meet his commitments as governor.

"My opponent's record in the legislative session just completed raises doubts about both his commitment to education and his leadership ability," said Howlett. "His reluctance to support the tax acceleration program almost scuttled the increased aid."

"In the end, Democrats supplied more than three-fourths of the favorable votes in both Houses. My opponent could deliver no more than a few votes on any issue."

To meet the commitment, it will be necessary to postpone for one more year the restoration of state funding for summer school, Howlett said. Reasonable priorities demand that quality education be provided during the regular school year first.

"My opponent, while speaking favorably of education, has never been specific, says he won't make any promises," Howlett said. "I have told you before the election what I am going to do for education. I challenge my opponent to do the same. You have a right to know his real plans before Nov. 2."

High court denies review of 'reverse' drainage issue

The Illinois Supreme Court has denied a request to review an Appellate Court ruling which orders drainage in the parkview Estates area of Nameoki Township to be reversed, it was learned here last week.

The original circuit court order, which was upheld by the appellate court, has been referred to by Nameoki Township officials as "an order to make water run uphill."

The original suit was filed by farmers residing east of the Alton & Southern Railroad tracks who objected to plans by the township to improve Parkview Estates drainage and divert the additional water under the railroad tracks and across the farm fields.

The farmers relied on old plat books showing water in that area draining naturally to the west - toward the Mississippi River.

"It may have drained that way one day, but it now drains to the east into Horseshoe Lake," Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell commented after hearing of the Supreme Court refusal to review the case.

Township Highway Commissioner Albert Bell told the Press-Record, "I could put a lift station in there and force the water to the west, but I don't know where I would put it. The first heavy rain, it would just come back to Parkview Estates and a lot of houses are going to get flooded out."

He said the Wilshire Lane area holding pond would be the only logical place to force the water and noted, "That pond is too small for what it takes now and it always overflows in a heavy rain."

"If we add more water there, it just has to come back to Parkview Estates when it rains, because that is the direction water flows in that area. It will not go uphill," Bell said.

Both Bell and Whitsell said they have requested their attorneys to study the matter further to determine if anything else can be done to avoid blocking up the drainage and possibly flooding homes in Parkview Estates.

"There may be some way to file another suit or to wait until we are fined and then appeal the fine, but there has to be some way to convince these courts that they are ordering something that just can not be done without flooding out many people," Whitsell told the Press-Record.

Campus pastors to speak

On Tuesday night, WSIE will take a look inside the "plexiglass ball." It has been called a planetarium. It has been called a radar station. But tomorrow it will be compared, with a little imagination, to a crystal ball.

What's the "plexiglass ball"? It's the dome of the Religious Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. On Tuesday at 7 p.m., in the first of a series of half-hour programs on alternating Tuesdays, the United Campus Ministry launches a new program, "Let's Talk About It."

In the first program, "Let's Talk About It" takes a look into the plexiglass ball to discover what it's all about and what's likely to happen there during the coming year.

The program will feature all six of the campus ministers who work out of the center. They are Bob Trout, Methodist; Gene Thiemann, Lutheran; Jay Santee, American Baptist; James Shortall, Roman Catholic; Russell Wigfield, United Christian Fellowship; and Steve Weisman, Episcopal.

"It'll be a fast-moving show, using interviews and music to describe what goes on inside that mysterious ball," said Thiemann, producer of the program. "My prediction is that anybody who looks into the plexiglass ball with us will discover life inside."

WHAT SHOULD I DO ABOUT PAYING THE CLERGYMAN WHO CONDUCTS A FUNERAL SERVICE IN MY FAMILY?

This is probably the most unresolved question of the funeral home industry. It should be answered, first of all, by saying that no clergyman of any denomination expects to be paid when it would be a hardship. This may best be illustrated by the fact that a one is ever denied the right to go to church because he cannot contribute to the maintenance of the church; if he has funds he is expected to pay his share.

Some religious groups have published suggested stipends, in some denominations the membership in a church and contributing to it presumes this pastoral duty.

As a matter of equity the clergyman must be compensated for his time and services just like any other professional person. If no policy or provision exists in the clergyman's religious group we will take care of this for the family as we are instructed and add it to the funeral account.

3 persons cut in tavern incident

Granite City police are seeking two men who allegedly were involved in cutting three people at Good Neighbor Joe's, 916 Niedringhaus Ave., at 10:10 p.m. Sunday.

Patrons told police two men and a woman were in the tavern when one man sat at the bar and was talking to a female patron. An argument started and the man displayed a straight razor and swung at the woman's throat, officers were told. She jumped back and suffered only a minor cut to the left side of her throat, it was reported.

Patrons then related the woman fled into the women's restroom and the assailant tried to follow her. Joe Ray, owner of the tavern, stepped between the man and the restroom door, and the man and his friend then beat and slashed Ray. It was alleged Ray suffered a severe cut to the left side of his head, face and cheek and numerous cuts to his left arm, side and back. He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital and later transferred to Alton Memorial Hospital.

While the man with the razor remained in the tavern, the other man went out the front door, but then turned around, entered again, walked up to

Ladle overturns, blocks traffic

Traffic on Edwardsville Road near the Granite City Steel railroad tracks was disrupted for several hours beginning at 8:15 a.m. Sunday when a ladle of molten iron spilled. A GC Steel train was pulling two iron ladles and a flat car toward the oxygen furnace when the car derailed.

About half of the molten iron spilled, causing the grass around the track to catch fire. Sand was poured over the hot metal which spilled onto the highway.

Granite City firemen and police responded to the accident.

The two men and the woman who entered with them then left the tavern and were believed to have driven away in a light brown Pontiac or Oldsmobile, possibly a 1968 model.

At 2 a.m. today, two men matching the descriptions of the earlier assailants, were believed involved in a disturbance at Tony & Joe's Tavern, 1500 Third St., Madison, during which the two threatened to cut or shoot a patron. They left in a car believed to be an Oldsmobile.

The second man was described as about 6 feet, 1 inch tall, thin, having shoulder-length dark hair, brown eyes, bad teeth and the front upper left tooth missing. He wore blue denim pants and jacket and a white shirt with a green leaf design.

Renowned Armenian folk dancers Oct. 31

The Nayiri Dance Group from New York City, under the direction of Nevarie Hamparian, will present a performance for the first time in the Midwestern states at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 31, in the auditorium at Granite City High School South.

The group's appearance here is being sponsored by the Granite City Bicentennial Commission and St. Gregory Illuminator Armenian Apostolic Church of Granite City.

Tickets will cost $3 each. Due to the auditorium's limited seating capacity, advance reservations now are being accepted.

Checks should be made payable to the Granite City Bicentennial Commission and mailed to: Miss Nelle Bogosian, Chairman, St. Gregory Bicentennial Committee, 903 Niedringhaus Ave., Granite City, Ill. 62040.

Immediately following the Nayiri performance, patrons may visit a cultural display of art works, artifacts and authentic Armenian food in the South High School cafeteria. Miss Bogosian said the Armenian cultural program, entitled "A Dance Trip Through Armenia," is being presented in commemoration of the American Bicentennial and is being supported, in part, by a grant from the American Revolution Administration and the Illinois Bicentennial Commission, a state agency.

Formed in 1963, the Nayiri Dance Group has achieved the distinct reputation of being the most renowned Armenian folk dancers performing in the United States, Miss Bogosian said.

Its 35 members are dedicated to the perpetuation of the folk dances of Armenia and through its use of authentic costumes, the group often is described as "elegant."

They appeared at the Democratic convention in Atlantic City, N. J., and were members met President Lyndon Johnson, and on six occasions performed at the New York World's Fair.

The group received a commemorative award from former Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York for its outstanding performances at the New York State Pavilion in 1964 and 1965.

In 1966, the Nayiri Dance Group gave an impressive program at New York's Town Hall for the Armenian General Benevolent Union's 60th anniversary celebration, and a month later was invited to represent the Armenians in the "Folk Festival of 50 Nations" at Convention Hall in Philadelphia, Pa. As a result of the latter performance, the group was selected to be televised.

Most recently, the Nayiri dancers performed at the New York Bicentennial Heritage Festival at Rockefeller Center on July 3, representing the Armenians in a 50-nation salute.

Of special interest was a series of recitals at New York's Carnegie Recital Hall, where they presented the same program to be featured here.

The Carnegie concerts were widely acclaimed and underscored the fact that this group of dedicated dancers, singers and musicians preserve and perpetuate with dignity and beauty the ancient and authentic dances of historic Armenia. Miss Bogosian said.

Other appearances have been for the Palou Compatriotic Societies, Fairlawn Rotary Club of New Jersey, Armenian Relief Society, Armenian Students' Association, Daughters of Varian, The Armenian Inter-Communal Committee of Philadelphia, Arabgar Union, the Diocese of the Armenian Church of America at Kavkazian Hall and the Armenian Arts Society of Rhode Island.

Acclaimed as one of the foremost interpreters of the Armenian folk dance, Nevarie Hamparian, the artistic director, has taught children and adults the techniques of the dance for many years.

Mrs. Hamparian has instructed various dances brought from the villages of Sepastia, Palou, Van, Erzeroum, Erzinga and other historical sections of Armenia. Additionally, she has choreographed new dances for the Nayiri Dance Group, Miss Bogosian added.

The chairman emphasized that only one performance will be given Sunday, Oct. 31, and stressed that reservations will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

NAYIRI DANCERS, part of the 35-member Nayiri Dance Group of New York, which will appear at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 31, in the auditorium at Granite City High School South. The group has performed at Carnegie Recital Hall, New York's Town Hall, Philadelphia's Convention Hall and on television and at the New York World's Fair. Only limited seating is available for the single performance. Tickets costing $3 each may now be purchased.

Fidelis Class aids members

The Fidelis Class of Second Baptist Church, completed plans to send a "sunshine box" to an ill member and to send birthday gifts to a girl residing at the Carmi (Ill.) children's home, during a meeting last week at the church.

Mrs. Mina Duggins gave the prayer for the sick and Mrs. Naomi Ronney presented a devotional lesson. Roll call was answered by each member with a scripture verse.

Mrs. Duggins and Mrs. Louis Acocis led the class in singing several hymns and Mrs. Kay Pearson gave the closing meditations.

Others present were Mesdames Ruth Chapman, Delores Ayers, Minnie Cavins, Ruth Hassler, Ruby Mayberry, Cora Miller and Jerry Lawwell. Mrs. Grote will entertain the group on Nov. 1 in her home, 1633 Venice Ave.

Republican Women donate book

The Granite City Republican Women's Club voted last week to present an historical book in Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower's name to the Granite City Public Library. The donation is an annual event sponsored by the club.

Twenty members and three guests attended the group's meeting at Bob Barton Realty, 4741 Maryville Road. Many of them signed "President's Pyramid" forms in which they pledged to invite 10 people to their homes to watch last night's televised debates between the national presidential candidates.

Members were reminded the county's Republican campaign headquarters for the Quad Cities is open at 1601 Pontoon Road and volunteers are needed to help staff the headquarters. Those present also were invited to attend the Madison County Federation of Republican Women's fall meeting Monday, Oct. 18, in the Stratford Hotel in Allon. The next meeting of the local club will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9, at the same location.

Drilling is due soon in mine subsidence program

Cong. Melvin Price (D., 23rd-113) last week reported that the U.S. Bureau of Mines could start exploratory drilling as early as December in the St. Clair-Madison Counties areas identified in the bituminous coal mine subsidence demonstration program authorized by Congress this year.

According to Rep. Price, the project sponsor, the U.S. Bureau of Mines has completed a rough draft of the required environmental assessment of the program. Following final approval of the assessment, expected within a week or so, the bureau will meet with Illinois mining officials at the end of this month to execute a cooperative agreement for joint participation in the project. The Illinois Bureau of Mines, Geological Survey and other officials will play major roles in the project, Price said. The U.S. Bureau of Mines "is looking to the communities" to obtain the necessary drilling permits and property owners' authorizations to proceed. Based upon the tentative schedule that has been developed so far, the drilling which is expected to start in the Canterbury area of Swansea will require at least one month. Simultaneously, geological analysis and data review will occur and backfilling and flushing may start in March, running through September 1977.

Price reported also that the Office of Management and Budget has authorized the Bureau of Mines to establish a program within its budget designated The Mine Land Demonstration-Bituminous Areas which will cover the St. Clair-Madison Counties project in the next fiscal year, starting Oct. 1, 1977. Rep. Price indicated that a second year appropriation of $1,000,000 will probably be necessary.

New safety rules for farm equipment

By RON CORNWELL

Agricultural Advisor
Madison County farmers employing farm labor should be aware of two agriculture safety standards that will go into effect Oct. 25.

The safety standards involve rollover protective structures for tractors and machinery guards.

All tractors manufactured after Oct. 25, 1976, purchased by farmers and operated by employees, must be equipped with roll bars.

The roll bar standards are not retroactive. Therefore, equipment purchased prior to Oct. 25 can be driven without roll bars.

The roll bar standard applies only to tractors driven by employees. It does not apply to tractor operated or used by the farmer and his immediate family.

There are exemptions for low-profile tractors used in orchards and buildings and when using mounted equipment such as compactors.

The machinery guarding standard applies where employees are involved. This standard has three parts.

You must provide adequate guarding for power takeoff drives on all farm and field equipment regardless of the date of purchase of the equipment. This regulation goes into effect Oct. 25.

The power drive line between the tractor and implement must be completely guarded when the equipment is being operated. If the machine had a guard that has been lost, you must replace this guard before you let an employee operate the machine.

The third part of the standard requires a farmer to annually reinspect his employees in the safe operation and servicing of the equipment they operate.

Manufacturers are also required to put a readily visible or audible warning device at points where the removal of a guard or access door will expose an employee to some component which continues to rotate after the power is disengaged.

Employers must apply a similar device to all older machinery which their employees will operate. Local machinery dealers will have these safety devices in stock this fall.

A new swine handbook is being developed for the swine producer. The purpose is to keep the swine producer current with the latest swine research.

This will be a loose leaf notebook containing fact sheets. The fact sheets will be issued over a three-year period.

Should you be interested in subscribing to the handbook, contact the Madison County Extension office. Fee for the handbook is $15.

Madison County sheep raisers will be interested in obtaining a copy of a recently revised sheep circular. The publication is entitled "Profitable Ewe Flock Management."

A new publication has recently been printed, entitled "Recommendations for Profitable Sheep Production." This publication will be available at the Extension office in the near future.

In addition to the revision and updating of material in the old circular, new sections have been added on crossbreeding, lamb diseases, factors affecting reproductive performance, feeding from weaning to marketing, feeding and replacement ewes and rams and artificial rearing.

Theater, dance production

"Something for everyone" in the family—from the kindergarten set to senior citizens—has been included in the theater and dance production schedule planned for 1976-77 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Programming includes a musical for "children of all ages," a romantic comedy by Christopher Fry, an original play taking children into the world of magic, a contemporary farce and two dance concerts. Opening the season will be the musical production, "Carnival." The story takes place in a circus environment.

Under the direction of Al Wiltz, director of dance in the department of theater and dance, performances will be presented Dec. 2, 3, 4, 9, 10 and 11 at 8:15 p.m. Dec. 5 and 12 at 2:30 p.m.

"The Lady's Not for Burning," a stage production by Christopher Fry, will highlight the winter quarter. The play's story-line centers around a world-weary young ex-soldier, who says that he would like to be hanged, and an intensive girl who may be burned at the stake on a charge of witchcraft.

Under the direction of Lynn Kluth, director of performance in the theater and dance department, the show is scheduled for Jan. 27, 28 and 29 at 8:15 p.m. and Jan. 30 at 2:30 p.m.

"Opus 77," an evening of dance works choreographed by SIUE graduate and undergraduate students majoring in dance, will play Feb. 18 and 19 at 8:15 p.m.

In March, children are invited to participate in Dough and Crispy's adventures as they meet "The Hooties of Labyrinth." This original children's play was written by an SIUE student, Barbara Marentette.

Miss Marentette is a graduate student, majoring in theater. Performances will be presented March 30 and 31 at 10:30 a.m., April 1 at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., and April 2 at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Max Fry's contemporary farce, "The Chinese Wall," will be brought to the SIUE campus during April. The play has its central theme the social comment, "We can no longer afford a society that regards war as inevitable."

According to Jim Greer, graduate student majoring in theater who will be directing the production, the play is thought-provoking and entertaining. Performances are scheduled April 14, 15 and 16 at 8:15 p.m. and April 17 at 2:30 p.m.

The annual "Dance in Concert" production will close the theatrical season at SIUE. This evening of dance works will include choreography by the SIUE department of theater and dance faculty. Performers will include students of dance and faculty members.

Performances will be presented May 12, 13 and 14 at 8:15 p.m.

All performances will be in the Communications Building theater on the SIUE campus. Adjacent parking is offered.

SIUE students with current student identification will be admitted free except for performances of "Carnival." Tickets for SIUE students for this production will be $1.

Other ticket prices are:

adults, $2; high school students, $1; children under 12, 50 cents; and senior citizens and groups of 20 or more persons, $1.50.

Senior theater will be available for all shows. For dinner theater information, Quad-Cityans may contact the University Club Restaurant at SIUE.

Additional information regarding the performances may be obtained by calling 662-2320.

Budget, fiscal improvements cited by Congressman Price

The legislative caliber of the 94th Congress drew praise this week from Representative Melvin Price (D-2nd Illinois District) in his annual Congressional report.

"Despite substantial non-cooperation by the executive branch, Congress moved ahead decisively on issues concerned with revitalizing the American economy," Price observed.

The local congressman said the 94th Congress "consisted of a large number of new members elected in the wake of Watergate, and existed entirely within the period of time that the executive branch was under control of a President never elected."

The Illinois lawmaker noted the institution of a new budgetary control process to improve fiscal accountability.

"Initial experience with the process was promising," said Price.

An additional aspect of the new budget process was a transition to a fiscal year running from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30.

"By this change, it is hoped that future Congresses will have enough time to complete action on appropriations so that the federal agencies will know what amounts are available for expenditure before they have to start spending," Price noted.

Citing legislative accomplishments of the Second Session, Rep. Price enumerated just a few of the pieces of legislation dealing with the economy, unemployment, energy development, the environment and tax reform:

"The Public Works Employment Act of 1976, which is a major step toward alleviating unemployment; authorizations for solar, thermal and wind energy development; nuclear and non-nuclear authorizations for the Energy Research and Development Administration.

"Legislation to improve research into serious diseases; prohibitions on dumping in our waterways and oceans; authorizations for the land and water conservation fund."

"Postcard voter registration; the swine flu immunization program; lobby disclosure reform; Clean Air Act amendments; revenue sharing; and tax reform, including estate and gift tax modernization."

Cong. Price also noted the decisions to build a CoalCon coal conversion facility near New Athens, and a new airport in the Columbia-Waterloo area.

The lawmaker referred with pride to the $12,285,000 appropriated for river navigation and flood control in the 23rd

District for fiscal 1977.

He lamented that no resolution could be reached on the replacement of Alton Locks and Dam No. 26, "though there was much discussion that served to clarify the importance of this facility and the urgency of the situation."

Price has co-sponsored a bill with Rep. James W. Symington (D-Mo.) to direct the secretary of Transportation to make $18 million in grants to restore all Mississippi River bridges in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

"Though there was no time for action in this Congress, I look forward to reintroducing the bill in the 95th Congress," said Rep. Price.

"The House of Representatives has taken more than 800 recorded votes since the Second Session began last January, and I hope to be able to continue the spirit of the Bicentennial into the 95th Congress when it convenes in January, by maintaining a high level of commitment in favor of legislation for the people."

WAY TO PLAY ORGAN

Specially designed for people who want to play organ NOW! without hours of practice or lessons. Hammond presents...

note a chord

This musical innovation combines one finger chords with an exclusive (Visual-Memory) system.

This Hammond spinet features Reverberation, Vibrato, Auto Vari 28 (seven rhythms with 28 different pattern variations), Autochord and Note-A-Chord!

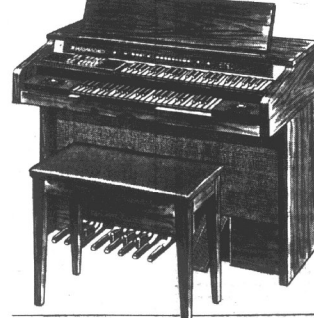

Here's what Note-A-Chord does for the beginning player. Try One-Finger Chords. Press the Note-A-Chord button and any of the 20 One-Finger Chords you touch will lock in place when played. With "Visual Memory," your eyes will tell you the chord you have played. You'll know immediately which chord to play next.

For Three-Finger Chords, simply press a button. Now, any three or four finger chord you play will lock in place. Other organs are limited by the number of chords available. With Hammond Note-A-Chord, any three or four finger chord in existence has "Visual Memory." Whether you play one finger or three note chords, the notes will lock in place. This frees your left hand to make rhythm or registration changes. No need to rush—Note-A-Chord is remembering what you've played.

Note-A-Chord with Autochord—another Hammond exclusive. It makes beginners sound like professionals. Autochord automatically provides alternating chord and pedal notes in any rhythm pattern selected. Choose any elaborate rhythm. It's yours automatically. Or combine rhythms for added variations.

Note-A-Chord is Hammond's new innovation that opens a new world of music for everyone. $1395.00

COLD WINTER FORECAST: Caren Hill, an SIUE sophomore, ponders this winter's weather as she looks at a woolly bear caterpillar found on campus. According to Mrs. Helen Wohlschlag of High Ridge, Mo., black woolly worms mean a long, hard winter is coming; she claims 100 per cent accuracy in predicting winters in the seven years she's been reading caterpillars. Miss Hill, a mathematics major, plans to stock up on plenty of Vitamin C and her own 'woolies,' just in case her fuzzy friend is right.

Vaccines vary in flu battle

Every six to eight years there is a major flu epidemic, according to Charles Jennings of the Illinois Department of Health who spoke at the Breakfast Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday morning at Charlie's Restaurant.

According to the speaker there are two kinds of vaccine. One is called Bivalent for persons over 60 and serious chronic disease victims which protects against both the Swine and Victoria flu.

The other vaccine for ages 18 to 60 is Monovalent which protects only against the Swine flu, he explained.

The vaccines will be given in the Quad-City area between

Nov. 15 and Thanksgiving day, according to the speaker.

The goal of the health department is to provide immunization for 80 per cent of the population which the speaker said will, in effect, place a protective shield around those who do not take the vaccine, primarily those under 18.

Volunteers wishing to assist with handling the paper work involved are asked to call the Red Cross at 452-7184. The vaccine will be administered by registered nurses with a gun-type inoculator, he noted.

According to the speaker, only three per cent will have a mild reaction to the flu shot. Herbert Camren conducted the meeting which was his first as the new Kiwanis president. He reminded the members of the "Hole-in-One" tournament Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 16 and 17, at Arlington Golf Club. Kiwanian Jack Mulach was the program chairman.

Bigger tax bites mean smaller retirement savings.

Taxes take bigger and bigger bites out of your income. They could be taking more than their fair share if you're self-employed or not covered by a pension plan. If you're a farmer or other self-employed worker, set aside 15 per cent of your earnings—up to $7,500 annually—in tax-deferred Keogh H.R-10 retirement plan. Or put 15 per cent of your earnings—up to $1,500 a year—in an individual retirement account if your company doesn't have a pension or profit plan.

Either way this income is sheltered until you retire, when you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket. See your Country Companies agent for full retirement plan information. The Country Companies. We're a little different than most insurance people.

Traffic

"We would like the opportunity of presenting our views on this most serious matter and will appreciate your advising what recourse we may have."

Traffic congestion along Nameoki Road and on its intersecting roadways has grown progressively worse over recent months because of the growth of business throughout the shopping area.

In an effort to control the traffic flow and at the same time take into account factors essential to safety, the council three weeks ago voted to prohibit right turns on a red light from Nameoki Road into Johnson Road, and from Fehling Road into Nameoki Road.

According to some aldermen, the results have caused even further complications by causing a backup of traffic along Nameoki Road in front of Belleme Village Shopping Center when the traffic light stops traffic approaching Johnson Road.

In the council session last week, for example, Alderman Gerald Parmley of the Sixth Ward told the council:

"Cutting out the right turn on red at Johnson Road (from Nameoki) was the biggest mistake we ever made. And I made it, too, because I voted for it. But I'll be the first to vote to rescind it."

Alderman Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward, who has opposed the right turn ban at that point, noted that he had been reported as having made a motion to repeal the right turn ban during the Sept. 28 meeting.

"That was not true," Coleman said. "My motion was to refer the matter to the Traffic Committee for a recommendation. I want to set the record straight on this matter."

Sam Whitmer, alderman of Ward Two and chairman of the Traffic Committee, said the committee is studying the matter with the city engineer and the street superintendent and expects to have a report later.

The left turn ban for traffic leaving the north end of the Belleme center parking lot and entering Johnson Road also was enacted by the council in the Sept. 28 session. The left turn prohibition was voted after some aldermen argued that a motorist making a left turn out of the parking lot onto Johnson Road frequently is delayed by approaching traffic from both directions, and as a result backs up traffic into the parking lot.

While the city is planning two major road improvements that would relieve the Nameoki traffic problem to a great extent, neither will solve the immediate problem.

Mayor Paul Schuler has said he expects the extension of Maryville Road from Pontoon Road to Highway 160 to greatly relieve the Nameoki area of "through" traffic which now must go through the Nameoki shopping area to reach the eastern part of the city.

The Maryville Road project has been delayed by right-of-way problems and its completion, even if those problems are resolved soon, still is a year and a half to two years away.

The other proposed road improvement is construction of an "access" road that would extend from West Pontoon Road along the railroad tracks behind the Nameoki shopping center to an outlet near the downtown area.

Alderman Roy Poulo of the Third Ward asked during last week's council session how soon construction of such a road can be expected as a potential relief for the heavy traffic load in the Nameoki area, and if it would be possible to build some type of a "temporary road" to provide immediate relief.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer explained that it is unlikely that effects will be made for a temporary roadway as studies have indicated that

"just a slag road" would cost about $200,000 without providing any drainage facilities.

Brewer said drainage already is a problem in that area and to build any kind of a roadway without providing for drainage would be "throwing the money away."

The engineer noted that while there has been some criticism of not advancing faster with the access road project is undeserved "because these offers of donations of right-of-way are not like they sound."

He said, "We have one point near Fehling Road where the right-of-way could cost about $40,000. We have talked to railroad officials about certain pieces of right-of-way and they have offered to negotiate on the sale of needed tracts. They are talking about selling, not about giving us anything."

ANTHONY S. TIANO

Tiano new manager of Channel 9

Anthony S. Tiano has been named executive director of the St. Louis Educational Television Commission and general manager of KETC-TV, Channel 9, effective today. The appointment was announced by Michael Witulski, chairman of the board of trustees.

Tiano was station manager of WHA-TV, the public television station in Madison, Wis., and associate professor of communication arts at the University of Wisconsin. Before then, he was program manager at KQME-TV in Albuquerque, N.M.

A native of Albuquerque, Tiano received a master's degree in communication theory and business and organizational communication from the University of New Mexico. He majored in mass communications and psychology as an undergraduate.

In his 14 years in broadcasting, he has served as a special projects director, writer, narrator, producer and executive producer. He also has worked in commercial television and radio as a news director and announcer.

Tiano has been producer, director and host for more than 1,000 public television programs of a cultural, instructional or public affairs nature. He was executive producer and program coordinator for two recent ballet productions distributed nationally by the KQME-TV in Albuquerque.

In describing his philosophy of public television, Tiano stressed that "public television is supported by the community and must be involved in it. Public broadcasting is a microcosm of society, and only will be successful to the extent that it reflects the issues, needs and problems of that society."

Tiano said he believes public television stations have two primary objectives—to produce quality television programs and to provide a strong and innovative alternative television program service.

The first 20 years of public broadcasting have been frustrating and turbulent ones. We hope these frustrations of the past will have made us stronger. At least our quest for firm funding and a clear mission may be almost over.

We know we must serve the people. We are now finding creative ways for the public to assist us.

Before appointing Tiano, the board of trustees evaluated 148 individuals in a nationwide search. Witulski said of Tiano, "He was selected as a person qualified to provide creative leadership and inspire strong citizen support in achieving KETC-TV's goal of producing quality television programs to meet our communities' television needs."

Tiano, 35, and his wife, Cathy, will reside in Manchester.

The grant covers the period from Nov. 1, 1976, through March 31, 1977, and will finance all but $2,864 of the project's total cost.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

George Ballew, 31, of 106 Kirkpatrick Road, was arrested at home at 7:45 p.m. Thursday and was charged with theft. Police alleged he stole a prescription containing Valium from the purse of Nettie Glaspie, 1306 Kirkpatrick Road, Sept. 19, after removing the purse from her apartment.

Captives

In the early history of the county, the most numerous family was the Gillhams. Thomas Gillham, the first of the family to come to America, was a native of Ireland. He settled in Virginia about the year 1630 and afterward moved to South Carolina.

He had 11 children, seven sons and four daughters: Ezekiel, Charles, Thomas, William, James, John, Isaac, Nancy, Mary, Sally and Susannah. The original stock was Irish Presbyterian, though the descendants later were mostly of the Methodist faith.

The first of the family to behold the Illinois country was James Gillham, the fourth son of Thomas Gillham.

He came in the summer of the year 1794 in search of his wife and children, then held captive by the Indians.

He had married Ann Barnett in South Carolina, and at the close of the war of the Revolution moved to Kentucky. One day in the month of June 1790, while Mr. Gillham was plowing corn on his farm in Kentucky, and his son Isaac, then a small boy, was clearing away with a hoe the clods which the plow might throw on the young stalks, a party of Kickapoo Indians stole up to the house and captured Gillham's wife and his three other children, whose ages ranged from four to 12 years.

They were taken to the field in which Mr. Gillham was at work some distance from the house, and it was not for some time that he discovered the misfortune which had befallen his family.

In the meantime, the Indians hurried away with their prisoners.

Mrs. Gillham was so alarmed at the sudden appearance of the savages that she fainted, and the first that she could recollect afterward was the voice of her only son, Samuel, saying, "Mother, we are all prisoners."

The Indians ripped open the beds, turned out the feathers, and converted the beds into sacks into which they placed clothing and such other articles as they could carry on their backs.

The savages hurried them forward with fierce looks and threatening gestures.

The children's feet became sore and bruised, and the mother tore her clothing to get rid in which to wrap them.

The Indians had with them a small quantity of jerked venison which they gave the children. Neither they nor the mother had a particle of food until, after they had traveled several days, distance from the white settlements, the party made a halt and the best hunters were dispatched to look for game.

Toward night they returned with one poor raccoon. Mrs. Gillham, who was afraid that either the children would perish with hunger, or that the Indians would kill them to save them from starvation, afterward said that the sight of the raccoon gave her more satisfaction at that time than any amount of wealth could furnish.

The raccoon was dressed by singing off the hair over a blazing fire.

He was chopped in pieces, and with head, bones, skin and entrails, boiled in a kettle and made into a kind of soup.

The Indians and their captives sat around the kettle. With some spoons and forked sticks they obtained a scanty relief from starvation.

They approached the Ohio River with great caution, fearful that they might be discovered by white people passing down the river.

They camped through the day in a thick wood near the site of the town of Hawesville, Ky., and made three rafts of dry logs, lashed together with thongs of red elm bark.

At night, they crossed the river in safety. Once across the Ohio, the Indians released some of their captives, marched onward, and secured abundant food.

Keeping to the right of the white settlement at Vincennes, they crossed the Wabash below Terre Haute and, marching through the present counties of Clark, Coles and Macon in this state, finally reached the Indian town on Salt Creek 20 miles northeast of the present city of Springfield.

Gillham, on returning home from his work at noon, found all about his house in confusion. The feathers from the beds were scattered over the yard, and the mother and children were gone.

He did not take long for a frontiersman to conjecture the fate of the family. It was plain that they had been taken prisoners by the Indians, and Mr. Gillham and his friends lost no time in starting in pursuit.

Their trail, as they left the clearing, was discovered. And in one or two places, the footprints of Mrs. Gillham and the children were visible.

But the trail was again lost, and all their efforts to recover it were ineffectual.

Gillham was obliged to abandon the pursuit, but he still entertained hope of one day recovering his wife and children.

He sold his improvements in Kentucky, and visited Vincennes and Kaskaskia, with the hope of enlisting the aid of French traders, who had personal knowledge of all the Indian tribes in the Northwest.

The commencement of hostilities between the whites and Indians made his efforts almost hopeless.

After five years of disappointment, he learned from some of the French traders that his family was among the Kickapoo Indians.

With two Frenchmen as interpreters and guides, he visited the Indian town on Salt Creek, and found his wife and children, alive and well.

The ransom was paid through an Irish trader at Cahokia, named Alchinson.

The younger son, Clemens, could not speak a word of English, and it was some time before he could be persuaded to leave the Indian country.

In his visit to Illinois, Gillham had become favorably impressed with the advantages of the country, and in 1797, two years after the recovering of his family, he became a resident of this state.

The Tigers gained 13 first downs to South's three while posting quarter leads of 7-0, 21-0 and 21-0.

Tiger Quarterback Ray Stephens completed one series in four attempts for one yard, but engineered ground gains of 366 yards, including 183 yards by Jeff Hornberger on 17 carries. Stephens himself carried three times for 128 yards.

Edwardsville took the opening kickoff at its 27, but a fumble recovery two plays later at the Tiger 35 by Warrior Kevin Wilson gave South good field position.

Following gains by Jay Heubner and Moran, South attempted a 36-yard field goal. It failed to find its mark with 9:05 left in the quarter.

But, again, Edwardsville's defense tightened. The Tigers refused to allow South past the aville's 29, Stephens rambled 71 yards to paydirt with 4:54 left to break the scoreless tie.

South's John Bogoman thurward a Tiger scoring march with two minutes left in the first quarter when he recovered a fumble for Granite City at his own 27-yard line.

But, again, Edwardsville's defense tightened. The Tigers refused to allow South past the line of scrimmage, forcing a four-down punt to the Tiger 35.

From there, Edwardsville moved the ball in four downs to South's 24. But Wilson ran the remaining distance with 9:33 left in the second quarter and Edwardsville enjoyed a 14-0 lead.

Later in the quarter, after taking a Tiger punt at the 24, South moved out to the 45 and geared for a possible touchdown after a 44-yard aerial from Quarterback Keith Champion.

The pass was hauled in by Moran at the Tiger 15 with 1:42 remaining. But an illegal receiver downfield ruling nullified the play, returning the ball to its original line of scrimmage.

South received renewed hopes later when Warrior Bob Gauen recovered a Tiger fumble on Edwardsville's 45 following a punt by South.

On the first play, a South pass was picked off by Tiger Greg Barton, who returned it to Granite City's 18, setting up a TD by Hornberger on a pass from Jeff Green with 18 seconds left before halftime.

Granite City recovered two Edwardsville fumbles in the third quarter, one recovery each by Paul Evans and Tim Anderson, but the Warriors failed to gain necessary yardage on downs.

Edwardsville's final TD in the contest capped a 36-yard downfield march to South's 35, from where Hornberger provided a touchdown run with 3:15 left in the game.

Hornberger kicked two extra points and Green kicked one.

Steelers remain all-victorious with 25-0 win at Mt. Vernon GCHS North improved its season record to 5-0 Saturday afternoon, blanking host Mount Vernon 25-0.

North's all-conquering Steelers led 3-0, 10-0 and 22-0 at the quarters over the Rams. The win further improved their already-bright prospects of qualifying for post-season playoffs.

Mount Vernon gained 14 first downs and North 10. The Rams picked up 106 yards rushing and North had 194.

In the air, Quarterback Tim Roney completed 11 passes in 23 attempts for 140 yards, and North signal-caller Greg Corey completed six of 16 for 104.

Steelers Fred Clay was his team's leading rusher with 82 yards, and Terry Schaubert gained 51 yards for the Rams.

After both sides failed to move the ball on downs early in the opening period, North took a Ram punt at the Steeler 47 and utilized the running of first James Simpson and then Clay and Joe O'Garra in seven plays to move to the hosts' 13-yard line.

Corey experienced two straight sackings behind the line of scrimmage, moving the ball back to the 28. But a 40-yard field goal by Corey put the Steelers on top 3-0.

A 71-yard drive by North early in the second period was capped by a four-yard run into the end zone by Mike Sherman. The score stood at 9-0 after a placement kick for the extra point failed.

Mount Vernon threatened to get on the scoreboard with time running out in the first half, but North's Clay intercepted a pass at the Steeler four, stopping the threat.

During the course of the game, Clay was joined by Leo Pelek, Rich Awall and Sherman as pass interceptors.

Sherman started second-half action by falling on a Ram fumble at Mount Vernon's 20, enabling North to move to the 11 on ground plays before Corey hit Keith Atkins with a pass into the end zone for a TD. The placement kick made the score 16-0.

After taking the ensuing kickoff, Mount Vernon met a tough North defense that held the Rams on downs.

A punt by the Rams from their own 13 was blocked by Joe O'Garra, giving North possession. Two plays later, Clay carried the ball in from the six for a 22-0 lead.

North's final score in the game came with less than 10 minutes remaining in the fourth period following a pass interception by Pelek at Mount Vernon's 40.

Carries by Simpson and Sherman spotted the ball on Mount Vernon's six-yard-line. Corey booted the ball through the uprights on a fourth-down situation for a field goal and the final three points.

10-0 soccer win by South

GCHS South's soccer team posted its 10th shutout of season Saturday at Jacksonville, defeating the hosts 10-0.

Two goals each were tallied by Rick Fernandez, Mark Spred and Rich Bechler.

Garnering single goals were Greg Feigl, Mark Goldschmidt, David Goldschmidt and Fred Schuler.

Now with a 12-1 record, the Warriors peppered the opponents' goal with 30 shots while the defense limited Jacksonville to one shot-on-goal.

Goalie Barry Briggs personally stopped the attempt from entering the net, and the opposing goalie stopped eight South shots from scoring.

South executed to cornerkicks and the hosts none. Fouls were numerous—South 21 and Jacksonville 24.

David Goldschmidt, noted Coach Gene Baker, received a leg injury in the contest after he was accidentally kicked by an opposing player. The South player has scored 18 goals this far.

Runner Baker

Steelers Mike Baker, a junior, won two multiple-school cross-country meets during the weekend, pacing a 14-school field across the finish line in 14 minutes, 56 seconds over a 2.8-mile course at Waterloo on Friday, and then setting a new course record of 14:31.8 in winning on a three-mile course at Jacksonville Saturday afternoon.

The Jacksonville meet marked Baker's fifth major meet win to go with his undefeated status in dual meet competition this season.

His record pace Saturday snapped the old mark of 14:32 set last year by Tim Walsh at Hannibal, Mo., the 1975 Missouri state champion now a student at Notre Dame University.

GCHS North mentor Pete Robinson notes that his team has only one meet remaining on the regular schedule after today, before district competition at Edwardsville Oct. 30. North will travel to Alton this Friday for a dual meet. GCHS South hosts St. Paul or Highland today.

Mascoutah won the Waterloo meet with 89 points.

Finishing in order behind the Indians were O'Fallon 99, GCHS North 105, Benton 121, GCHS South 147, Marissa 225, Sparta 290, Triad 223, Highland 260, New Athens 251, Freeburg 264, East St. Louis 305, Cahokia 307 and Chester 369.

Placing also for North were Dave Ebrecht seventh, Don Lucy 16th, Greg Stout 19th and John Bracamontes 62nd.

At Jacksonville, Rolling Meadows High School of Chicago was the team victor with seven points. The hosts had 14 and North 16. Participating also were O'Fallon, Highland and Springfield Griffin.

Amati wins Midwest honors in sprint car

Chuck Amati of Freeman Spur, Ill., claimed the point championship Saturday night of the first annual "Midwest Sprint Spectacular" racing series at Tri-City Speedway.

A 17-year veteran of sprint car racing, Amati held the point lead over Lee Osborne after strong finishes in positions at first Champaign and then at Holt's Summit, Mo., prior to Saturday's action on Tri-City's half-mile dirt oval.

Amati led Sonny Smyser and Phil Howe across the finish line in a heat race.

He then placed third in a trophy dash won by Dean Shirley before taking runnerup honors to Tom Berlin in a 40-lap feature race. Dick Gains placed third, Mackie Heimbaugh fourth and Cliff Cockrum fifth.

Other heat race victors were Cockrum and Corbin. Heimbaugh won the semi-main event.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 28, at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin Avenues.

Four leagues will field teams this year. They are:

Church—for players aged 15 and up and who are members of the church sponsoring the team.

High School—players who are currently attending school but are not members of a high school team.

A $55 per team registration fee will be charged in all leagues with the exception of the High School League, which is $45 per team.

Also, players in Classic and High School Leagues who are not residents of the park district are required to pay a non-residence fee of $7.50 each.

Church and Women's League non-resident players are to pay $15 each.

The park district also will sponsor boys' basketball and open play starting next month. Both are open to the public at no charge except for a $7.50 non-residence player fee.

Boys' basketball is to be played at Coolidge Junior High School from 9 a.m. to noon each Saturday, with the first four weeks consisting of instruction on how to play the game for boys in grades three through six.

Open play will be held on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon at Prather Junior High School, and from 1 to 4 p.m. each Saturday at Coolidge.

Golf district meet to be held Friday

Competition in the second Illinois High School Association (IHSAA) two-class boys' golf tournament series will get under way at the district level this week at nine Class A sites and 15 Class AA sites.

Class AA district competition for this area will take place at Wood River High School.

Entered along with Granite City's South and North and the host Oiler team are Alton, Bethalto, Cahokia, Collinsville, East St. Louis High and Lincoln, Edwardsville, Highland, O'Fallon and Roxana.

A total of 498 downstate, suburban and non-public Chicago schools have entered the series, of which 247 will compete for the Class AA title and 159 for the Class A title.

Schools are classified according to enrollment. Schools with enrollments of 751 or more are in the big school (Class AA) category and schools with enrollments of 750 or less are in the small school (Class A) category. Last fall, 412 schools entered the series.

All of the 24 districts will be conducted Friday, Oct. 15.

The top three scoring teams and the top three scoring individuals who are not members of qualifying teams will advance from the districts to the sectionals in both classes.

Sectionals will be played at Edwardsville and elsewhere Friday, Oct. 22, with the top three teams and top three scoring individuals who are not members of the qualifying teams advancing to the 59th state final tournament.

The state meet is scheduled for the weekend of Oct. 29-30 at the University of Illinois Orange and Blue Courses at Savoy, Ill.

Joining the sectional qualifiers in the Class AA competition will be the top team and top three individuals from the Chicago Public League qualifying tournament.

Each team advancing to the state final tournament may bring as many as six golfers to Savoy. Team scoring will be decided on the basis of the four lowest scores each day, rather than the four lowest scores for the complete 36-hole competition.

When a school's top golfer suffers through the horrors of the tricky Orange Course, and his score balloons, his team's chances for a trophy may not be hampered. Now, one bad round by a team member may be nullified by an outstanding round from another.

Carroll claimed the first Class A title last fall, while Rockford (Guilford) took Class AA team honors while taking team honors for the second tournament in a row.

Explorers explore Trojan territory with ease in 44-0 game

The Explorers of Alton Marquette wasted little time Saturday afternoon in building up a substantial point margin at Trojan Field and defeated Madison High 44-0.

Marquette led 9-0, 23-0 and 37-0 at the quarters, with David Swift picking up 101 yards rushing and two touchdowns.

Quarterback Dean Pichee added a TD and Dan Pichee had 106 yards rushing and one TD. Chuck Whitmore and Mitch Moesman added to the score on runs, while Swift and Kent Hubbs each provided two points on after-TD conversion runs. John Morrissey kicked four extra points.

The Explorers gained 368 yards on the ground and 27 yards in the air while earning 19 first downs.

Madison had 75 yards rushing and 115 passing and a total of 10 first downs.

Sophomore sprinter James Heard of the Trojans carried the ball 11 times for 72 yards.

Marquette took the opening kickoff and capped a 62-yard drive with a six-yard TD run by Swift with 10:33 left in the first quarter. Swift then ran for two points.

Near the end of the initial period Madison started a drive from its own 48. With 51 seconds remaining, MHS moved in nine plays to the visitors' 19 on carries by Quarterback Joe Piechocinski and Heard and passes to Tom Jones and Earnest Davenport. But a fourth-down aerial was picked off by Marquette at the 15-yard line.

Marquette then marched back into Trojan territory to the 25 and made the score 16-0 on a 25-yard run by Swift and Hubbs two-point dash with 4:08 left in the half.

Another interception by Marquette of a Madison pass with 2:44 left in the half at Madison's 22 led to another TD two plays later. Whitmore dashed the two yards to paydirt and Morrissey booted his first of four placement kicks in the game.

Madison's hopes of biting into Marquette's 23-0 lead with the second-half kickoff were short-lived, as the Trojans fumbled it away at their own 48.

Eight plays later, Dean Pichee carried it in from the one-yard line for a 30-0 advantage.

Taking the ensuing kickoff at its own 41, Madison, aided by a 15-yard penalty, moved to the Explorer 25.

From there, a Trojan pass was intercepted and was followed by a 76-yard march to Madison's six, where Dan Pichee took the ball and ran across the goal. The extra-point kick made the score 37-0 with 1:31 left in the quarter.

With 1:24 left in the third period, Madison took the kick at its 41 and began a sustained drive on carries by Heard and passes to Giles and Alfred Crawford.

The Trojans advanced to Marquette's 10-yard-line. But two incomplete aeriels forced Madison to yield possession.

Marquette then drove back downfield to the five, from where Moesman in the fourth period carried it in for the final touchdown.

Defensive battle between North and Cahokia ends in tie

A 1-1 standoff disappointed both Cahokia and Granite City North in a spiritedly-contested soccer game here Thursday afternoon.

The Steelers of Coach Bob Kehoe were held to only three shots on goal but took the lead with seven minutes left in the second quarter.

Bob Yount chalked up the goal on a penalty kick. GCHS North remained ahead until only six minutes remained in the fourth and final period.

After the tying goal, neither team's rallies were sufficient to alter the deadlock.

Cahokia aggressively achieved six corner kicks to North's one, but Goalie Mike Hill and his teammates were equal to the challenge. Hill had four saves during the game, and the Cahokia goalie had two. The Comanches totaled five shots. Foul totals were 13 for North and 12 for Cahokia.

Honor James Shipcoff for long service at Madison

A surprise retirement party was held last week for James Shipcoff, 1601 Sixth St., Madison, who has worked for the village and city of Madison for 37 years.

LEON G. SCROGGINS

Scroggins on lawyers' civil practice panel

Francis J. Householder, president of the Illinois State Bar Association, has announced the appointment of a Granite City attorney to a position of leadership in the association for the 1976-77 fiscal year. Leon G. Scroggins will be vice-chairman of the Civil Practice and Procedure Section Council.

Scroggins was state's attorney of Madison County in 1967 and 1968. The Illinois State Bar, a voluntary organization with a membership of nearly 20,000 lawyers and law students, is governed by an assembly of 140 members. A board of governors of 23 members acts as the assembly's executive committee.

More than 400 lawyers belong to the working sections and committees. There are 27 sections, 27 standing committees, 15 special committees and four joint committees with the Chicago Bar Association. The sections' major functions are to study and draft laws for introduction in the Illinois General Assembly, to help present post-law school lectures for lawyers, and to study court procedure and practice. Twenty-six of the ISBA's 27 sections publish newsletters pertaining to new laws, court decisions and practices.

Among the major functions of committees are the study of ways and means of making lawyers' services readily accessible to the public through legal aid for the indigent, and lawyer referral and prepaid legal services for those who are not indigent; promotion of the welfare of the mentally disabled; study of computerized legal research; investigation of unauthorized practice of the law; and sponsorship of other activities of benefit to the public and the legal profession.

KELLY AT SEMINAR ON HOSTAGE PROCEDURE

Ninety law enforcement officers, including Granite City Police Capt. Everett C. Kelly, attended a two-day seminar on hostage procedure and negotiation conducted this month by the Cook County Sheriff's Police Training Academy, Maywood, Ill. Sheriff Richard J. Elrod said the course was praised by the participants.

The instructors are internationally known for methodology in dealing with terrorists and hostages, successfully applied by federal, state and local law enforcement agencies. Topics included cause and effect of past hostage confrontations, structuring a training program, assuming command of a hostage incident, overview of the operation and responsibilities, developing a negotiator, and psychological aspects.

He went to work as a clerk on the Chain of Rocks bridge, being hired by then Village President Robert Dron.

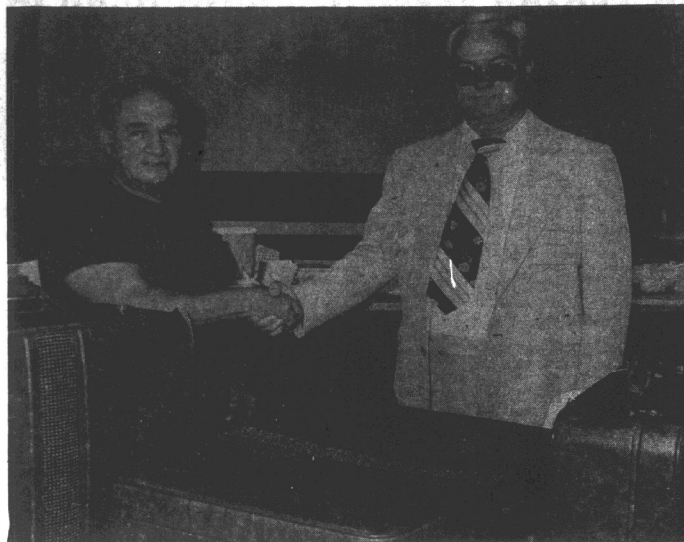

Ten years ago when the bridge closed, Shipcoff filled an opening with the city's sanitation department and after a year became a maintenance man for the street department. Shipcoff later became a foreman in the street department.

An active fireman for the past 10 years, he is treasurer of both the Madison Volunteer Fire Company and the Fire District. He also is a member of the Madison City Organization.

He and his wife, Gena, have two children, a son Steven who manages a store in Kirkville, Mo., and a daughter, Miss Elaine Shipcoff who teaches at the Madison Junior High School.

Shipcoff is a member of the Holy Trinity Bulgarian Orthodox Church. A three-year Navy veteran during World War II, Shipcoff has been a member of the Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 for the past 25 years.

When asked what he plans to do Shipcoff said, "I plan to stay active with the fire department. We have a barbecue stand on Friday and Saturday to earn money for our equipment and now that I am retired I can spend more time helping out. I like to keep busy, but I plan to relax a bit and enjoy life."

HONORED FOR 37 YEARS of service to Madison, James Shipcoff, left, is commended by Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk at a surprise party given last week by fellow city employees. Shipcoff retired last week after 37 years employment by the city of Madison. At the retirement party Shipcoff was presented with a set of luggage and other gifts. He had been working the past few years as a foreman for the street department.

center. In past years the senior class flag has not been made until the end of the school year, but the students wanted the symbol of school and class pride during the entire year, according to Miss Terrell.

Dime basic bus fare for aged, handicapped

The Bi-State Development Agency has announced that it will lower its basic fare to 10 cents for senior citizens and all physically and mentally handicapped persons beginning Monday, Oct. 25.

At present, senior citizens and blind persons possessing Bi-State identification cards may ride for 15 cents at all times in the two-state area.

Under the new program, senior citizens and all persons with mental or physical handicaps who have Bi-State identification cards will pay only 10 cents per ride except during "peak hours" Monday through Friday (6 a.m. and 4 p.m.), when the charge will be 15 cents.

There will be no transfer or zone charges at any time. The reduced fares will apply to all regular Bi-State lines but not to such special services as the Big Red and Race Track Express lines.

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler is chairman of the Bi-State Agency.

Bi-State Executive Director Robert J. Baer emphasized that senior citizen and blind identification cards now in circulation will remain valid under the expanded program.

New applicants will be issued a standardized "Reduced Transit Fare ID Card" when they have completed card application and received certification from any of more than 100 area health or social service agencies.

"Present cardholders do not need re-certification or new cards," Baer said. "However, new applicants will have to pay the regular fare of 25 cents until their new ID is received."

Bi-State will require approximately two weeks from the time of receipt to process applications.

The names and locations of certifying agencies are listed in a brochure available on Bi-State buses and at regular pass outlets.

Applications may be obtained at the certifying agencies, most city halls, the main St. Louis Public Library and its branches, and at all Bi-State pass outlets.

Interested persons may also phone a special Bi-State number beginning today—771-2200—or may write to: Elderly & Handicapped Program, Bi-State Development Agency, 3889 Park Avenue, St. Louis, Mo. 63110.

To qualify for the reduced fare identification card, handicapped persons should bring to a certifying agency a statement from a health or social service agency or their doctor, or they may qualify directly through a participating agency by presenting information about their handicap.

Persons 65 years of age or older must present a birth certificate, baptismal certificate, driver's license, marriage license, insurance policy, military service paper, citizenship paper, passport, or other official document as proof of age.

State regulations do not permit the use of Medicare or Social Security cards as proof of age.

"This new reduced-fare program," Baer said, "is part of our ongoing coordinated effort at Bi-State to better meet the transit needs and increase the mobility of elderly and handicapped persons in the metropolitan St. Louis area."

"We recognize that these people are especially dependent on public transit, and we are anxious to provide our services to them as inexpensively and efficiently as we possibly can."

He added that later this year signs will be posted on all Bi-State buses requesting that elderly or handicapped passengers be allowed to use specific seats near the front door.

Baer also noted that the St. Louis County Council has given its formal approval to a pilot "demand-responsive" bus service to be operated by Bi-State and funded by county transportation tax revenues, utilizing vans specially equipped with lower steps and wheelchair lifts to provide door-to-door service for the elderly and handicapped.

"In addition," Baer said, "Bi-State has recently been awarded a grant to purchase 14 vans especially equipped for elderly and handicapped persons for use throughout our service area."

"We are doing everything possible to have these vans in service in early 1977, which should dramatically improve public transportation opportunities for the elderly and handicapped," he concluded.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN

Things are progressing nicely for Store No. 2. Just for the record, the official name is SCHERMER'S PONTON SUPER MARKET. As far as we're concerned, just plain "Schermers" will do nicely.

We received a lot of valuable information this week in response to our column. All the "good stuff" came in this week. We weren't trying to be critical when we wrote last week's column; just trying to get information, and we did. A lot of good practical suggestions came in about what was good in the old Tom-Boy store and we have made proper note of them.

The comments also came in about "good people" that worked in the store. We knew that it just couldn't be "all bad" and last week's reports from the neighborhood confirmed it.

All of our people are just as thrilled as you are who will find the new store closer. Especially all the customers who live in Mitchell are really excited about the new "Schermers."

'Young Vic' to perform

A Greek tragedy performed by British actors will kick off the 1976-77 cultural arts series in international style at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. On Thursday, "Oedipus" will be performed by The Young Vic Theater Company in the Mass Communications Building theater at 8:15 p.m.

The Young Vic has been described as "one of the liveliest in Britain and one of the most sought-after companies in the world" by Clive Barnes of the New York Times. It has presented 10 Shakespeare plays, 21 modern classics, six new plays and 11 specially written shows for children during the six years of its existence.

Visits to festivals abroad have included Europe, Canada, America and Mexico. In 1971, The Young Vic's production of "The Taming of the Shrew" won the Critics Award in Madrid for the best foreign company to visit Spain that year.

The Young Vic productions are simple, without elaborate scenery or costumes, with emphasis on the text and clear understanding of the play, according to Frank Siano, program director at the SIUE University Center. He said the aim is to provide good theater at prices within the reach of all young people.

Seating for "Oedipus" is limited, and tickets should be bought in advance. Tickets are $2.50 for non-students and $1 for SIUE students. The office number is 692-2320.

Two other cultural arts series performances are scheduled for October. The Paul Winter Consort, a variety of rock and symphonic instruments with an original sound, will appear Thursday, Oct. 21, at 8:15 p.m. in Meridian Hall.

The first of four informal

Coffee Concerts chamber music programs will be Monday, Oct.

25, at 8:15 p.m. in the University

Club Restaurant. These concerts are presented by faculty members and guests in the SIUE department of music.

MHS Future Secretaries elect, plan programs

Future Secretaries of Madison High School completed plans for their activities for the new school year at a session held Tuesday at the high school.

Faculty advisors Mrs. Beverly Imming and Lee Ashby, the representative of the sponsoring Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (Intl.), Mrs. Peggy Moore, and the new officers formulated programs for the six educational meetings required by headquarters each year.

Also present for the meeting was Mrs. Raylene Boston who teaches bookkeeping, shorthand, and introduction to business at Madison High School. Mrs. Boston will assist in the duties of faculty advisor this year, it was announced.

The officers, by popular vote of the membership, at Tuesday's meeting are Darlene Gilliam, president; Millicent Bakie, vice-president; Harriet Malone, recording secretary; Wendy Burns, corresponding secretary; Joyce Harned, treasurer, and Ramona Washington and Karen Wiggins, board members at large.

Membership in the Future Secretaries Association is limited to those who qualify through having met the high level of grades, especially in business subjects, as well as unquestionable character and integrity.

Thirty-five students have met these standards this year, and letters have been sent to them by the faculty advisors, inviting them to join the organization. A candlelight initiation ceremony is being planned for the latter part of this month. Initiation of the officers will be held at that event also.

Present FSA members, under the guidance of the faculty advisors, are compiling program booklets and the FSA Handbook, which gives the rules of membership, as well as names and addresses of all members, and programs for the year.

Members who do not attend a minimum amount of monthly meetings, or do not maintain the above-average grades required in business subjects, are dropped from the chapter. Thus, one of the goals of each member is to keep in good standing as a member of the chapter.

Large quantity of cannabis seized

A 30-year-old Collinsville youth and a 24-year-old Granite City man were arrested at 12:10 a.m. today, facing charges of possession of cannabis.

Police seized four large trash-bags full of green leaves, green seeds and stems from the back of the car and found two Army-type duffel bags full of what they believe to be cannabis in the basement of a residence.

The two are being held in the Madison city jail pending court appearances.

PAINT TRASH CANS
Art students at both Granite City high schools have received permission from the Board of Education to work with the Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee and paint some trash cans in various areas of the cities. Art designs and cartoon characters on the trash cans are planned.

RESIDENCE ENTERED
The home of Bob Swiatek, 33 Bermuda Lane, was entered after 11 p.m. Thursday. The intruder gained entry by breaking a window. Nothing was known to have been taken.

various services of the agencies sponsored by the United Way. Terrell also emphasized the need of individual financial support to maintain these vital community services.

furnaces or other problems, and could reduce the number of commercial fires in the city, the inspectors indicated.

Neither advocated an "occupancy code" similar to the one in Madison, which requires a certificate the premises has been inspected before the electricity and gas can be turned on.

The occupancy code idea was voted down by the Granite City Council in March of 1974. Both inspectors said they feel an occupancy code imposes a hardship on persons attempting to move into houses.

They said houses are not a primary concern. It is the responsibility of persons residing in the houses to notify the city if they believe there are deficiencies.

"If a renter calls us and says he believes his home is unsafe, we inspect the premises and force the landlord to make the necessary repairs to comply with the city building code, but we do not deal primarily with housing, unless we receive a complaint or there is a very obvious problem," Rusick said.

He said the city's enforcement of the building code is hampered in dealing with commercial buildings where a business has been for some time.

"There is what is called a 'grandfather clause' that you can not tell a business in existence a long time that they have to put in a second exit and the judges have upheld the grandfather clause," Rusick contended.

He agreed that nothing can be done about an office with several dozen people on the second floor of a building who have only entrance and exit to the building and could be trapped there by fire.

We passed the building code in 1968 and that business has been there a lot longer than the code. We can't reasonably go in there and tell the owner he has to put in a second exit. If that business moves out and another applies for a business license there, you can bet a second exit will be required," Rusick said.

Fire Chief Don Parente disagreed that potential fire traps in commercial buildings are allowed to exist without being inspected. "We conduct a fire inspection of every commercial building each year and the major ones, including the downtown stores, are inspected twice each year," the chief said.

The firemen are trained to detect fire hazards from stored trash, flammable materials, faulty wiring and furnaces and other causes, he said.

"We may miss a few buildings, but you can check our records. We inspect nearly every commercial building each year and all the schools, public buildings and downtown stores twice a year, once by the firemen and another time by the shift commander," Parente said.

met with the same results as Coleman.

"They're just not interested in providing this coverage unless we agree to pay extremely high premiums," Morien said.

Refusal to renew the city's indemnity policies followed a recent court case in which the American Home firm was held responsible for damages filed against Granite City as the result of a shooting incident.

The suit was filed May 17, 1974, by Vonda L. Collins, mother and administratrix of the estate of Michael Collins, 16, who was shot fatally by police in a May 1973 shooting incident.

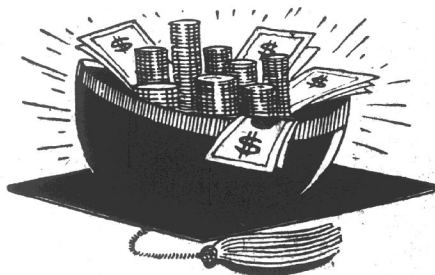

The Home Assurance firm then filed suit against Granite City disclaiming responsibility for any damages that might grow out of the Collins suit. The firm alleged that the city had failed to notify the insurance firm of the Collins suit within the time required by the insurance company.

A circuit court jury in Circuit Court at Edwardsville returned a verdict in favor of Granite City in July this year.

FINED ON CHARGE OF NO FIREARM CARD
James R. Stogdill, 25, 2410 Bryan Ave., appeared before Associate Circuit Judge Merlin Hiseott at 5:30 p.m. Friday on a charge of not having a firearm owner identification card and was fined $125. He pleaded innocent to a charge of unlawful use of a weapon and was released on a $2,500 recognizance bond.

Police allegedly saw a man with a .22-caliber pistol appearing to unload it at 5 p.m. Friday in the 1000 block of West 20th St. Stogdill was quoted as showing the weapon to a friend.

Lions District Governor visits Madison club

The Madison Lions Club was pleased for its work in support of the blind and visually handicapped programs of Lions International.

District I-G Lions Governor Mel C. Schuchardt was the honored guest at the Madison Lions Club meeting Thursday evening in the Sportsman's club, Tenth and Iowa streets, Madison.

The Lions and their wives enjoyed a buffet champagne dinner prior to the meeting. Madison Lion President Richard Bright introduced the governor.

In reviewing the District I-G goals for the year, the speaker said, "We have 47 clubs in our district and we want to increase this to 50. I am glad to see we are getting a new Lions Club started in Granite City."

"We have 2,200 members in the district and we want to increase this to 2,475."

"Our motto, as you can see on the wall behind me, is 'Make your fellow man feel needed.' I want to make a special invitation for the members of the Madison club to attend the district convention April 24.

This is an event in which club leadership can be developed and you want to support your candidate for governor. We have two men running for office," Schuchardt said.

Jim Riskovsky, secretary of the Madison Lions and deputy district governor, is running for the 1977-78 District I-G governor's position.

Governor Schuchardt complimented the club for having been active in Lionism for 35 years.

President Bright noted that in February the club will celebrate its 35th year and is planning several major events in celebration of the anniversary.

The purpose of Lions International, as outlined by the Governor, are to create and foster a spirit of understanding among the people of the world, to promote the principles of good government and good citizenship, to take an active interest in the civic, cultural, social and moral welfare of the community, to unite the clubs in the bonds of friendship, good fellowship and mutual understanding.

Lion Tony Anselmo reminded the members of Candy Days, proceeds of which are used to help local blind and visually handicapped persons.

Following the meeting, a social hour was held giving the members and their wives an opportunity to visit with the governor and his wife, Trudy.

Air quality grant to GC

Rep. Melvin Price (Dem., 2nd Ill.) announced Friday that the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board has received an additional $6,725 grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to aid the board's efforts to raise the air quality in Granite City.

The board previously received $26,500 in federal funds. With the new grant, the total is $33,225. The 1976-77 fiscal year grant, part of the U.S. EPA's air pollution grant program, is part of a total projected expenditure over several years of $69,365.

Steele honored as effective legislator

State Representative Everett G. Steele was praised as a hard-working, capable and effective legislator at a reception yesterday afternoon at the Sunset Hill Holiday Inn.

Rep. Celeste Stiehl of Belleville, Illinois House assistant minority leader, cited new laws enacted under the Glen Carbon Republican's sponsorship, including a law intended to reduce the problem of rural-area firefighting jurisdiction.

Rep. Steele has played a constructive role in balancing state financial income and spending, in seeking to assure suitable use of state vehicles, in working for a climate attractive to new and existing employers, and in advancing other worthwhile legislative efforts, the assistant minority leader said. Area candidates and officials were introduced at the reception.

Stop motorcycles

Two motorcyclists, who allegedly attempted to elude police, were arrested at 4:15 p.m. Thursday and face traffic charges.

John F. Mills, 21, of 2456 Hodge Ave., and Terrence Wylie, 21, of 2568 Revere's Route, were each charged with attempting to elude police at Lake School, East 23rd Street and Route 162, with violating the stop sign at Victory Drive and Nameoki Road, and with disobeying the stop sign at Victory Drive and Marshall Avenue.

Poll of Illinois farmers backs Ford, Thompson

Among Illinois farmers, Republican candidates Gerald Ford and Robert Dole have moved out ahead of Democratic presidential and vice presidential candidates Jimmy Carter and Walter Mondale.

In personal, on-farm interviews of 525 Illinois farm people taken in late September throughout the state, Ford and Dole were the choice of 42.9 per cent. The Carter-Mondale ticket was preferred by 31.6 per cent of those interviewed, with 25.5 per cent undecided.

The undecided were then asked if they preferred one pair of candidates more than the other. When the "leaners" among the undecided are added to the firmly committed, the figures are 55.2 per cent for Ford-Dole and 40 per cent for Carter-Mondale.

In Indiana, the results were Ford-Dole 44.1 per cent and Carter-Mondale 26.1 per cent. Leansers added to the committed in Indiana gave Ford-Dole 57.4 per cent and Carter-Mondale 36.5 per cent.

Illinois farmers give Republican gubernatorial candidate James R. Thompson a commanding lead over Democrat Michael J. Howlett, according to Prairie Farmer surveys.

Thompson led 64.5 per cent to 17.4 per cent and when the 18.1 per cent undecided were asked if they preferred one candidate more than the other, Thompson received 75.7 per cent of the vote and Howlett got 23.1 per cent.

In the contest for secretary of state, Illinois farmers give Republican William Harris a slight edge, 32.6 per cent to 29 per cent for Democrat Alan J. Dixon, 36.9 per cent were undecided.

Crime Blocker program open to public tonight

Law Enforcement Explorers from Pontoon Beach, Granite City, Madison and Venice will meet today at 7 p.m. in the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee streets, for Crime Blocker training.

The Crime Blocker program is designed to help concerned citizens know what to look for and how to properly identify and report crimes, particularly burglaries.

The program tonight is open to all citizens of the area, according to W. F. "Mike" Strange, president of the Madison-Venice Rotary Club, who has organized the training meeting.

Officer Glenn Wright of the Granite City Police Department, assisted by Madison Chief of Police Frank Dufko, Venice Chief of Police Ralph D. Brawley, Officer Donald Birdick and John Richards Hooks of the Madison Coordinated Youth Services will conduct the meeting.

The Crime Blocker program is designed to help concerned citizens know what to look for and how to properly identify and report crimes, particularly burglaries.

Police officials maintain most crimes are witnessed and in cities where the crime blocker program is used the crime rate has been reduced by as much as 30 per cent.

Quad-City police departments and the M-V Rotary have joined in the promotion of the program.

"A citizen, properly oriented, who reports a crime rarely needs to go to court as the police get accurate and quick information and in most cases are able to apprehend the criminal or prevent the crime," Wright said.

More information on the Crime Blocker program may be obtained by phoning any of the area police departments.

will present the two-hour orientation program to adult groups of 15 or more people such as churches, fraternal organizations, veterans groups, senior Girl Scout units or service clubs.

According to Officer Wright, a group of citizens in a block may want to gather at a home in the neighborhood where the program may also be presented.

More information on the Crime Blocker program may be obtained by phoning any of the area police departments.

Rep. Steele, Mrs. McDonald ballot rivals this fall

State Representative Everett G. Steele, a former Granite Cityan, seeks a second two-year term as a state representative of the 56th Illinois Legislative District in the Nov. 2 election.

He won the General Assembly position two years ago, and was the top vote-getter in Republican state representative primary balloting this March.

He is seeking re-election on the basis of an active and productive first term as legislator.

The Glen Carbon resident says, "I believe there is a real need for fiscal responsibility in state government."

"We must live within our means, and state government spending must be kept within a balanced budget."

"I have appreciated the opportunity to work on behalf of the people of our district as their state representative."

"Some of these legislative efforts - in the area of fire protection for unincorporated areas, and in the removal of hidden liens from residential property - have become law."

"Other efforts - commenced in the field of investigating the use of state-owned cars, and in upgrading health standards for the protection of the public in eating establishments - I hope to see through to successful completion."

"I have visited each community in the district at periodic intervals with my mobile office," Steele said.

In addition, he maintains legislative offices at his residence and in Alton and Granite City. Constituents may call one of his offices from any area in the district without charge.

Rep. Steele serves as a member of the House Appropriations Committee, the House Transportation Committee and the Higher Education Committee. He also has been appointed to the Legislative Council.

He served as a member of the House Transportation Subcommittee studying Department of Transportation policies, procedures and practices regarding maintenance and improvement of the Illinois highway system.

"I believe the subcommittee made some positive suggestions which can ensure all areas of the state are treated equally when highways are improved," Steele said.

He resides with his wife, Josephine, and their sons at Rural Route One, Glen Carbon.

Steele, 46, has been active in real estate in Granite City, Nameoki Township and the Troy-Edwardsville-Glen Carbon area in past years.

A lifelong Madison County resident, Steele was born in Granite City and resided here until moving to Edwardsville Township 12 years ago.

For over 20 years he was associated with the Steele-Kunemann Agency, 1518 Niedringhaus Ave. Granite City, as a broker and realtor.

His offices when he first ran for the legislature were chairman of the Glen Carbon Zoning Board, chairman of the Granite City Realtors' Multiple Listing Committee and Committee on Ethics and Professional Standards.

President of the Unity Chapel non-denominational congregation in Nameoki Township and committeeman of Edwardsville Precinct Eight.

He is a member of Masonic Lodge 877, the DeMolay Legion of Honor, James Stuart DeMolay Chapter Advisory Board and East St. Louis Commandery 81.

His sons are Bryan, 14, and

REP. EVERETT STEELE

Mrs. Eva Giltner McDonald, 58, Alton, is seeking election as a state representative Nov. 2. She and the incumbent Republican representative received GOP nominations in the March primary.

Traditionally in the 56th District (western Madison County), two Democrats and one Republican are elected to the Illinois House. The fall ballot will list two Democrats and two Republicans.

"I am a graduate of the University of Illinois. With six years of college, I feel I am qualified to critically analyze situations and then make a favorable decision," she says.

"Since I've taught the sixth grade for 33 years in Alton, I have worked with the public in many capacities in several different arenas."

"Being active in church work at the College Avenue Presbyterian Church as a trustee, then as an elder and now as a deacon, not to mention many years in the Sunday school and youth groups, I believe this reveals another area of dedication."

"I am past president of the American Association of Childhood Education as well as the American Association of University Women of Alton and have served as chairman of several committees in the Business and Professional Women's Club as well as Delta Kappa Gamma."

"I've had an active role in the Alton Education Association and National Education Association," Mrs. McDonald comments.

"Much of my life has been oriented to public service. In this capacity, I have met a variety of people and discussed issues of the day."

"I have traveled extensively and am interested in gardening, photography and flower arranging."

"I feel that equal opportunities must be made available for all. Along with these opportunities come responsibilities. Therefore, I think women should be willing to accept responsible positions in the political field."

"It is time women became involved in political aspects of the government at all levels."

"Women have accepted responsible positions, but we must be willing to respond to many more. There should be equality for all. Life is too short to be small," Disraeli said.

"I would like priorities to be established preceding any budget."

"Educational opportunities should be expanded. As an educator, I would give education top priority."

"The welfare and dignity of senior citizens must be established and preserved. I recommend exempting them from all sales taxes as well as property taxes."

"I would favor a graduated income tax to reduce or replace the property tax."

"Small, independent shops and businesses are vital to the unique growth of our state.

"Since I'm taking early retirement from teaching, I will give full time to being a representative. I think legislators should be paid monthly and be prohibited from holding a second government job for pay, or any other job."

"It seems that better planning was done at the state level when there were biennial budgeting sessions; therefore, I favor this."

"I am not aligned with any state or national candidate who is seeking election in 1976."

"I feel I'm ready to meet the challenge of a state position and I'd like to work for the people as their representative in Springfield."

"I live with my husband, William, at 3421 Gary, Alton. I grew up in Southern Illinois, Brookport, in a family of six. I'm the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Giltner of Brookport."

7 area arrests in crackdown on drug traffic

A simultaneous operation by federal and local authorities attempting to slow heroin traffic in the United States led to more than 230 arrests Friday, including seven Madison and Venice residents. Additional arrests are anticipated.

Six of those arrested in this area were charged with unlawful delivery of heroin. Allen Jefferson, 27, of 1019 Logan St., Venice, was charged with three counts of unlawful delivery of heroin. His bond was set at $75,000.

Charged with one count each of unlawful delivery of heroin were Adrian Camp, 26, of 914 Jackson St., Venice; Kevin Campbell, 20, of 161 Lee Wright Homes, Venice; Casandra Butler, 25, of 307 Weaver St., Venice; and Charles Matthews, 47, of 307 Weaver St., Venice. Bond for each was set at $25,000.

Also arrested was Alice Hicks, 28, of 922 Webster St., Madison, who was charged with unlawful delivery of marijuana. Her bond was set at $25,000.

Federal agents from the Drug Enforcement Administration also arrested Henry Byrd, 25, of the 900 block of Washington St., Madison, who also was charged with sale of heroin.

Byrd and Jefferson were arrested by federal authorities while the other five were arrested by agents of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwest Illinois (MEG).

MEG is an undercover drug enforcement group of selected policemen from many area police departments.

A MEG spokesman said Friday the MEG arrests were the result of a four-month long investigation by agents who made 25 drug purchases in Madison and Venice at a cost of more than $1,500.

Camp, Campbell, Matthews, Alice Hicks and Casandra Butler were arrested about 1:30 p.m. Friday on warrants obtained by MEG agents.

MEG agents continued to seek Jefferson, but discovered he had been arrested at 4 p.m. Friday by federal authorities in connection with the same investigation.

Those arrested were taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville, pending the posting of bonds.

Breakthroughs in United Way contacts with employees

Breakthroughs being achieved in the Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign this month are beneficial in two ways:

1. Access to previous non-giver card undergivers is providing funds that are mighty useful in raising the record $475,000 sought this fall.

2. The fact that fewer potential contributors are being missed eliminates the excuse voiced by some that the drive is disproportionate. Because everyone benefits from United Way agencies and almost everyone gives, the financial cost is shared in an equitable manner through fair-share pledges.

There will always be a few who are able to rationalize to themselves why they should not be UW participants, but their ranks have grown few in number. And eventually they will be to the drive—ability to contact virtually all employees — also is being achieved.

Alcoholic rehabilitation, family counseling, youth services, scouting, child placement, foster care, nursing services, help for the handicapped, material aid in emergencies, health programs and other needed activities and services are being provided day in and day out, around the clock, throughout the Quad-Cities.

The solicitation currently in progress is intended to help finance the operating costs of member agencies during the 1977 calendar year.

Financial help and the giving of time to Tri-Cities Area United Way agencies are fully justified by the facts of the comprehensive programs that are provided. And the truth of this is being acknowledged and acted upon affirmatively by more and more local residents and employees each day.

No energy remedy, but Congress improved its budgeting

Press-Record Washington Bureau — It wasn't the best of Congresses. It wasn't the worst.

The 94th Congress has gone into history. Dominated by a Democratic majority, it spent nearly two years contending with a Republican President, with its own problems and with the problems of the country.

The achievements of any legislative body when viewed in perspective turn out to be a mixed bag, and this Congress is no exception. But, on balance, we would give it better marks than fresh.

The large class of freshman Democrats elected in the 1974 elections immediately after Watergate succeeded in shaking up the fossilized power structure in the House, ousting three senior committee chairmen. The Senate made it easier to stop filibusters. But Congress failed to enact strong lobby and conflict-of-interest laws.

The relationship between Congress and the President, while hardly the happy marriage he said he hoped for when he took office, developed less than marriages. The country survived.

Not much was accomplished on energy or tax reform. But there was a question in both areas whether a national consensus had been developed.

In foreign policy, such a consensus had been formed by the Vietnam War and Watergate. Congress took advantage to strengthen its powers, curbing presidential authority to act in emergencies and shutting off funds in Vietnam and Angola.

This Congress, by action of its predecessor, seized the reins on the budget with a new procedure giving it wider power and greater responsibility over total spending and taxing. Making the new budget act work may prove to have been its biggest accomplishment.

Glad restaurant plan being blocked

To the Editor:

I would like to publicly applaud the seven aldermen who listened to the City Planning Commission, the chairman of the City Council's Planning and Zoning Committee, the superintendent of schools and, most important, to the residents in the Frohard School area who opposed rezoning 201 Johnson Road from residential to commercial zoning for the operation of a restaurant. These aldermen voted to uphold the Planning Commission's decision. Aldermen Baker, Parnley, Coleman, Morien, Pauls, Whitmer and Greenwald.

Although a parliamentary maneuver will bring the issue up for another vote at a later council meeting, the city attorney has ruled that it will take a two-thirds vote to amend the zoning code.

Since the vote at the last meeting was seven to seven, it appears unlikely that the ten votes needed will be attained.

Many are thankful to those aldermen who listened to the citizens who had the most to lose if this rezoning were approved.

Chimes give a lift to reader's spirits

I am grateful for the noontime chimes—and thankful to the minister who has arranged this reminder to lift up our hearts and thank God for all the benefits we have received from him here.

A personal thanks to Supt. Harold Brown, the Park Board and the personnel at the Wilson Park swimming pool who gave us senior citizens a special hour for swimming during the summer.

That particular recreation is

And we can still hear the chimes.

Walker's strange finances

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. Dan Walker dropped another incredible bit of information about his campaign financing, but all of the facts still are not known.

Walker divulged he loaned his campaign committee in 1972 over one-half million dollars.

What was the reaction to this significant announcement? There wasn't any. Who cares about the four-year-old financial records of a defeated politician?

Of course, that is exactly the reaction Walker wanted. He saved the announcement until a long summer holiday, and to lessen the impact he vetoed the State Fair bill and dismissed the chairman of the Capital Development Board.

Imagine how different the reaction would have been had he announced during his famous walk around the state that he was spending $451,000 of his own money to win the primary election? Instead, he was promoting his populist image and a "let's get Dan" campaign.

Then he jumped in a jeep and pumped $70,000 more into the general election.

Where did all this money come from?

Now Walker is obviously a well-to-do man. Prior to his campaign he was a $125,000-a-year lawyer who listed his net worth at almost $400,000. But the questions remain. His net worth (and assets) totaled less than the amount of his personal loans to the campaign, which would indicate he borrowed at least $100,000 by not putting up any collateral. Who loaned him that kind of money? Even Walker aides now admit that virtually no one thought he was going to win that primary.

Did he convert all of his assets to cash? That seems unlikely, so who handled the financing to permit him to pump that into the campaign?

Despite Walker's claims of the most comprehensive disclosure in the history of the state, there have been no answers provided for these questions.

When the Better Government Association attempted to get some of the answers, Walker went to extraordinary lengths to block their investigation. He filed suit claiming the creation of the State Board of Elections was unconstitutional. The case is still pending.

Under terms of a new state law, Walker is required to make public details about the financing of his 1976 campaign.

His committee spent $1.1 million in the primary, and still reported a debt of $460,000 on July 1. This time around, Walker loaned his committee $25,000 — a mere fraction of what he did in the first race when he was not required to disclose anything.

Are these debts and details about financing important to the operation of state government? Many people think so.

For example, the first serious allegation against Walker when he took office was that he appointed Anthony Angelos director of the Department of Insurance in return for a $50,000 contribution. The contribution was finally termed a loan and Angelos never served in government.

The current, unproven allegation is that Walker operatives are continually asking persons who do business with the state to help him pay off the sizable debt. Thus, it appears Walker will leave the governor's office with the same questions hanging over his finances that he had when he was inaugurated.

Plan Commission to hear zoning pleas

The Granite City Plan Commission will meet at 1:15 p.m. Thursday to consider three requests for zoning changes and a request for a special use permit.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles is requesting C-1 commercial zoning for property at 2581 Iowa St., for a proposed parking lot.

Dr. F. B. Dionea is requesting a special use permit for a physician's office at 2819 Madison Ave.

Leon Scroggins, attorney, is requesting a C-1 commercial classification at 2832 Madison Ave., for a law office.

Rhonda Mazzarella, 2908 Roosevelt Ave., also wishes C-1 zoning at her home for a beauty shop.

All four requests are for properties now zoned R-3 for single-family residential use.

The regular meeting of the city's Board of Appeals, which was to be held Wednesday, has been postponed due to a lack of cases to be heard. The date for the next meeting is yet to be announced.

Consumer group endorses Price

Consumer Federation of America, the nation's largest consumer organization, today announced its "enthusiastic endorsement" of Representative Melvin Price for reelection to Congress from the 23rd District.

CFA Executive Director Carol Tucker Foreman said, "Despite tremendous pressures from a variety of anti-consumer forces, including the Ford administration, and intensive, well-financed industry and trade association lobbying efforts, Rep. Price has consistently and courageously voted in the best interests of consumers."

CFA's basis for endorsement is the voting record for the 94th Congress. The 24 "key consumer votes" included the creation of an agency for consumer protection, antitrust, food, housing and energy legislation. Under standards established by the CFA, a more than one "wrong" vote qualifies for endorsement.

Find body in river

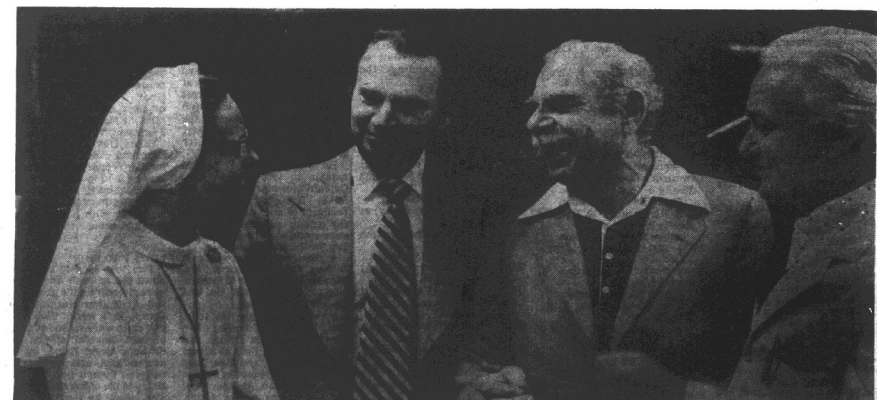

The body of one of two Kinloch men missing a week after a fishing accident was recovered at 1:35 p.m. Saturday snuggled in brush about 30 feet from the shore of Mosenheim Island in the Mississippi River about two and one-half miles south of the old Ghain of Rocks Bridge.

Roscoe Wilder, 36, was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner.

He was found by volunteers from the Community Action Alert team who had been searching the coastline since the U.S. Coast Guard suspended its search operations last week. Wilder and Kinloch Alderman William Boyd, 37, disappeared Saturday, Oct. 2, after launching a fishing boat into the Mississippi River. The Madison County Sheriff's Department aided the Coast Guard in searching for the bodies until the search was suspended.

Wilder's body was taken to a Granite City funeral home and later was taken to a St. Louis funeral home where arrangements are pending.
